HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Highways Department Wednesday awarded contracts for road improvement and construction projects in these counties:

Monroe—Route 115, Ross and Chestnut Hill twps., from northwest of Saylorsburg to McIlheny, 2.56 miles, resurfacing; Herbert R. Imbt, Inc., State College, $88,335.

Terrorism Still
Plagues Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Secret Army Organization lobbed six mortar shells into the crowded Belcourt Moslem quarter Wednesday. Some exploded on terraces of homes where women scrubbed clothes.

Five persons, including a 6-year-old child, were killed. At least 20 Moslems, most of them women and children, were wounded by shrapnel.

Then, as darkness fell, nine other mortar shells crashed into the teeming Casbah, Algiers' oldest Moslem quarter. Details of casualties could not be determined.

At least five persons were killed and several wounded in other acts of terrorism throughout the city during the day.

Kennedy Will Visit Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy accepted an invitation Wednesday to visit Brazil some time this year, the White House announced after he concluded two days of talks with Brazilian President Joao Goulart.

Pierre Salinger, presidential press secretary who told newsmen of Goulart's invitation and Kennedy's acceptance, said he could be no more specific about the exact date of the U.S. chief executive's journey.

Asked whether Kennedy might extend his trip to other South American nations, Salinger replied that Brazil was the only country under discussion Wednesday.

Air Charges On Missile Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Figures presented at a Senate hearing on missile contract profits were challenged by aircraft executive Donald Douglas Wednesday as "a gross distortion."

Douglas is head of the Douglas Aircraft Co., one of the major contractors in the development of the Nike anti-aircraft missile systems that have been installed around many U.S. defense areas.

Robert E. Dunne, a Senate staff investigator, testified the Douglas firm received $45.58 million in profits on a series of Nike contracts after turning over much of the work to subcontractors.

French Actor A
Heroin Smuggler

NEW YORK (AP)—Jacques Angelvin, 34, an entertainer on French television, was indicted with three other men Wednesday on charges of smuggling $3.3 million worth of heroin into this country.

Despite protests of his lawyer, Angelvin was held in $100,000 bail in Kings County Court. He was master of ceremonies on a popular French television show, "Paris Club."

Similar bail was set for three other defendants, Francois Scaglia, 47, of Paris, and Joseph Fuca, 60, and his son, Pasquale, 31, both of Brooklyn.

Seek Damages
On Fish Kill

HARRISBURG (AP)—Atty. Gen. David Stahl said Wednesday the Justice Department is considering taking the Glen Alden Coal Corp. to court to recover damages for fish killed on the Susquehanna River last year.

Stahl said that unless the company pays $58,504 which the state estimated as the cost of replacing the fish, the department will take legal action.

Stahl added that Glen Alden has indicated a desire to discuss the matter with his department.

If the state takes the case to court, Stahl said, it may ask for as much as three to 10 times more than the present estimates of damages.

Rig Runs Wild
Near Honesdale

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP)—A runaway trailer-truck rolled backward down a hill Wednesday and crashed through the front of a house into the living and dining rooms. No one was hurt.

The driver, John Antonioni, told state police he did not know what caused the truck to go out of control. The accident occurred on Route 690 about 10 miles west of Honesdale.

General Walker Addresses Hearing

At Senate Hearing:

Gen. Walker Rakes Officialdom In Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edwin A. Walker, far-right ex-general, told a Senate committee Wednesday that both he and the American way of life are victims of dark forces in "collusion with the international Communist conspiracy."

From President Kennedy down, Walker raked high officials and even suggested that a onetime ghost writer for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower would bear looking into. He didn't name the writer.

As for the state of the armed forces, he said that with the nation's survival at stake they are "paralyzed by our national policy of 'no win' and retreat from victory."

The big Senate caucus room was crowded with spectators, many of them Walker admirers, as the former major general came to defend himself against charges that he tried to sway votes of his troops in the 1960 elections, in violation of Army regulations.

The Army admonished the general, who was then in command of the 24th Division in Germany, and he later renounced his pen-son rights and resigned to battle in private life against forces that he said "endanger the security of our country."

Walker now is seeking the Democratic nomination for the governorship of Texas.

The tall ex-general showed a bit of tension as he read his 3,000-word prepared statement. His hands shook a bit at the start and he frequently stumbled over words—converting "subservient" into "subversive" for example, and "jaquity" into "iniquity."

Two associates sat by his side, occasionally correcting his pronunciation and prompting him. After they had done this for a while, Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., had them stand up and identify themselves — attorney C. J. Watts of Oklahoma City and Medford Evans, of Dallas, a consultant.

Walker's use of the word subservient was in connection with a denunciation of the press and other mass media. Government officials are knuckling under to the press, he said, but: "The media men will not do much when the shooting starts — except write graphic accounts of the retreat."

"My experience and observation," he said, "indicate that control (of the military) has been taken from the hands of those legally responsible for it and placed in hands not fully identifiable, but which operate through the media of mass communication, the U.S. Department of State, and the information offices of the services."

"In soldier language, the 'Pios' run the Army. What the average soldier does not realize is the extent to which outside media run the PIOs, and unidentified forces run the media."

Outside the hearing room, he remarked on television that he believes what he regards as the sins of the press are "becoming more evident to the American people."

"When trouble starts, with respect to riots, etc.," he said, "the press always becomes the victim."

Reports Of Parachutes In Bangor Area Pose Mystery

PARACHUTES were the topic of the day yesterday in the area, but most of the conversation and searching centered around Bangor.

Sister Rose, an elementary teacher in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic School, Roseto, reported to Bangor police yesterday that she saw five parachutes floating to the earth as she stood on the playground at the school. She gave the time as "between 12:30 and 1 p. m."

A report from Associated Press said a woman in Roseto told the Civil Air Patrol she saw parachutes dropping from the sky yesterday but the CAP was unable to find any trace of them after five searching missions.

A CAP spokesman said six planes will be sent into the area today.

Second Report

Mrs. Joseph Romano told the CAP she saw two parachutes coming down near her home and what appeared to be three more off in the distance in the direction of the Stroudsburg.

Two nuns in a nearby convent also said they saw two large parachutes.

The CAP spokesman said, from the description, the parachutes appear to be of the cargo type. He added that a check with Robins Air Force Base at Macon, Ga., disclosed no military craft reported in difficulty in the area where the parachutes were sighted.

The area in which the parachutes were sighted is in the general area northeast of Greko's Cafe, between Upper Mount Bethel Township and Route 191.

Police Search

Fred Baker, manager of the Bangor Water Company, accompanied State Police and police from Plainfield Township, Pen Argyl, Bangor, East Bangor and Upper Mount Bethel Township into the area owned by the water company. It was believed that the parachutes came down there.

JFK Proposes New Taxes
To Build Recreation Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has proposed a stiff tax on pleasure boats and other new revenue measures to finance the purchase of land and water areas for public recreation.

Kennedy sent Congress a bill Wednesday to carry out his recommendation that the government create land conservation fund to expand existing recreational resources to meet present and future needs.

In an accompanying message, Kennedy noted that Americans have traditionally considered the outdoors as free.

"In fact, however, outdoor recreation programs have been supported through a combination of general revenues and special levies such as national park admissions, fishing and hunting stamps and licenses, and federal excise taxes on fishing tackle and sporting arms and ammunition," the President said.

"This bill broadens the application of established principles as a means of assuring continued outdoor recreation opportunities." Kennedy had discussed methods of paying for additional land for outdoor recreation in his conservation message to Congress a month ago.

The revenue would amount to more than a billion dollars. Kennedy also proposed advance appropriations of up to $500 million to the fund over the next eight years to get the stipulated sources of revenue.

Lenten Meditation

By Rev. Raymond Poortstra
Delaware Water Gap and Portland Methodist Churches

THE WORD of the Cross — Paul the apostle preached one message to the Corinthians.

The word of the Cross—to this city of Corinth, where the tremendous temples to pagan idols stood. A paganism still reflected in recent conversion to Christianity of followers of Posedon and Aphrodite.

A very low immorality surrounding and degrading the new Christian Church at Corinth.

Despite all opposition, Paul's message "the word of the Cross" containing the wisdom of God, the power of God, a Christ crucified and His resurrection is triumphant over that which is sinful and evil. It was adequate in that day.

Turn to our communities today—the word of the Cross is the only adequate way to change people for the better. First change a person spiritually, then he will change morally. In Corinth or our home town the "word of the cross" means a better community. Are we concerned with broken lives, broken families, a crime rate that has progressed four times the population growth percentage wise in the last 10 years?

The FBI says major crime increased 98%, 1960 over 1950, yet the population increased only 18% in the same period. Juvenile crime increased more than twice that of major crime. Are we concerned?

We had better live closer to the word of the cross. For inspiration and action look to that magnificent divine nature of Him on the cross, doing the will of His Heavenly Father, to serve a sinful humanity even though it meant crucifixion.

Also involved in the search was a Ranger unit from the Civil Air Patrol, Allentown.

Police searched the area until 7 p. m. last night then came out of the woods and will continue the investigation today.

Previous Incident

Baird Reimer, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reimer, of Portland, called The Daily Record last night and said that he found a balloon-parachute three days ago about 150 feet from his home. The boy was flying a kite at the time.

He said, "I was flying my kite in an area between my house and the next door neighbor's when the balloon hit my kite. It was then that the parachute broke out of the balloon."

He continued, "Attached to the parachute was a small battery, green in color, and printed on it was 'United States Weather Bureau—March, 1961. There are no instructions on it and I have the entire thing in my possession.'"

No Confirmations

In Stroudsburg, Russell Scheller headed for his ham radio set to see if he could find someone on the air that might be talking about an airplane crash or anything that would answer the question in his mind "Where did the parachutes come from?" He was unsuccessful.

Another report received at The Daily Record was that Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport verified a report from U. S. Air Force that a plane from the Strategic Air Command base in Oklahoma, was missing.

This report, along with many others, was checked out. A spokesman at the A-B-E control tower said, "We know nothing about any plane, civilian or military, being missing in the area."

N-Test Sites
Prepared By Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission set aside Wednesday a huge testing area in the Pacific Ocean in case the United States decides to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

The commission said establishment of the 600-mile wide, 800-mile long area surrounding Christmas Island will become effective April 15 "in preparation for such actual tests as may be ordered later in the month."

"The establishment of the area," the AEC announcement said, "is part of the preparations for testing which are going forward. A preparatory measure which the United States has always considered essential for the public safety in any test series is public warning several weeks in advance to mariners, aviators, and others who might be in or plan to use the testing area."

"The purpose is to assure that every person, even in remote places with infrequent communications, is warned well in advance of the proposed tests to remain clear of the area."

The AEC said official notices to mariners and aviators are being issued through normal operational channels.

Christmas Island, a big atoll more than 1,000 miles south of Hawaii in a lonely section of the Pacific, is under British control.

A joint announcement was made by this country and the British Feb. 9 of an agreement under which the United States might use the island for the nuclear tests. President Kennedy has said such trials in the atmosphere will be ordered late this year unless the Soviet Union agrees in the meantime to a satisfactory treaty banning further tests.

The two countries coupled their announcement with a renewed appeal to the Kremlin for a "supreme effect" to halt the nuclear arms race.

In the Geneva disarmament has maintained a rock-hard stand against the inspection by outsiders which the West insists must be part of any test ban agreement as a guard against cheating.

The agreement for U.S. use of Christmas Island also provided for a British test of a smaller nuclear device in the underground chambers in Nevada where the United States has carried out such experiments since the Russians broke the nuclear testing moratorium last fall.

Dogs And Fires

STROUDSBURG Borough Council was informed last night that the Police Dept. will intensify its drive against dogs running loose in the borough and against open burning.

The dog ordinance provides for a fine of $5 or five days in jail for violation. In addition, a state law against dogs running loose provides for a $10 fine.

The ordinance relating to burning provides that it must be done in a non-combustible container covered with a screen of one-half inch or smaller mesh. It also limits burning to the hours between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Violators may be fined up to $100 or imprisoned for not more than 10 days.

Syria Will Seek Unity
With Arabs

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—The military high command followed up its suppression of a rebellion in the north with a declaration Wednesday that unity with the liberated Arab powers is its prime objective.

Naming neither President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic nor any other nation, the high command said unity must be established on a thoroughly studied basis ensuring no future errors.

Charges Break

Radio Cairo charged that Damascus authorities were breaking their pledge to abide by the Homs conference resolutions, meaning decisions reached by high command and pro-Nasser negotiators at the city of Homs Sunday. It said Col. Muwaffak Assassa of the high command had undertaken several arrests among pro-Nasser officers.

A merger of Syria and Egypt in the United Arab Republic was shattered last Sept. 28 by a military revolt amid charges that Nasser had turned Syria into a concentration camp.

Restoration of Syria's ties with Cairo was the aim of the Aleppo-based army uprising, which collapsed Tuesday after a 48-hour crisis.

Result Of Coup

The uprising, of which Col. Luayy Atassi assumed command, was an offshoot of the bloodless military coup that ousted President Nazem el Koudsi and his rightist civilian government March 28.

Tension seemed eased. A ban on travel between cities was relaxed. Internal telephone communications were restored. The Aleppo radio station, which during the uprising called itself the Voice of the United Arab Republic, returned to network operation with Radio Damascus.

The half-million people of Aleppo, however, were kept under curfew except for three hours, from 8 to 11 a.m. They were ordered to surrender all arms. Demonstrations were banned.

"The crisis has ended," the high command said in a statement broadcast from Damascus. "Quiet has been restored to all parts of the country and to all its towns and cities."

Good Morning!

Everyone should pay his taxes with a smile. We tried it, but they wanted cash.

PRESENTS PETITIONS—Mrs. Fay Knopp, of Westport, Conn., shakes hands with Soviet deputy foreign minister Valerian Zorin after presenting petitions for end of nuclear tests to Zorin and U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean, right, at Palace of Nations in Geneva. Fifty American women were among 100 housewives and mothers who marched to the Palace of Nations to make the presentation. Dean and Zorin are co-chairmen of the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Army Plans Regrouping Of National Guard In Brigades

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army moved Wednesday to regroup its Reserves drastically by reducing four National Guard and four Reserve infantry divisions into brigades and setting up a ready-to-fight force of six National Guard divisions.

The plan, which is subject to review by Congress, contains political dynamite because it treats on state pride and traditions linked to some of the units to be broken up.

The Army announced that four National Guard infantry divisions will be reconstituted into independent brigades are: the 34th of Iowa and Nebraska, the 35th of Kansas and Missouri, the 43rd of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont, and the 51st of Florida and South Carolina.

Four Reserve divisions to be disbanded and their manpower reorganized in the same manner are: the 79th of Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland; the 94th of Massachusetts, the 96th of Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Washington, Nevada and Utah; and the 103rd of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The Army did not disclose the identity of the six priority divisions which will be tagged for call-up first in event of a future emergency.

It was believed four of them would be the 26th Infantry of Massachusetts, the 28th of Pennsylvania and two National Guard divisions now on active duty—the 32nd Infantry of Wisconsin and the 49th Armored of Texas.

The top-priority, six-division force, intended to back up the 16 regular Army divisions, will be maintained at 75 to 80 per cent of strength as compared to 52 to 78 per cent in the past.

The plan to reshape the Reserves, to achieve maximum readiness, has been in the making for about a year.

It was spurred by the experiences in last year's Berlin crisis call-up which showed up weaknesses in the present organization in terms of equipping, training, and manning.

One thought back of the plan is that having independent brigades instead of divisions would add flexibility. The idea is that the brigades could be filtered into divisions to beef up their strength.

The Army plans to announce details on Friday at about the time officials testify on it to a Senate committee. A House committee already has been given details in secret.

The announcement reported will avoid using the word "eliminate" in referring to the eight divisions, but Army officials acknowledged that this is what will happen.

Staff Named
For New Unit
In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence chose the personnel of a newly-created state agency—the Board, Device and Cosmetics Board—before taking off Tuesday on a month's world tour.

The board, authorized by a 1961 act of the legislature, will administer a system of registration and regulation of organizations and persons distributing drugs.

The act prohibits misleading advertising, and bans the sale of drugs that have not passed a safety-use test.

The state secretary of health serves as chairman of the board. Appointed members of the new agency were: Dr. Carl Schmitt, Gladwynne; Dr. Joseph B. Galbo, Erie; Dr. Elias W. Packman, Philadelphia; Dr. Gerald J. Cox, Pittsburgh; Dr. Joseph B. Sprows, Harrisburg; Robert S. Winter, Philadelphia; Robert E. Huff, Saxton, and Mrs. Margaret D. Gastrock, Harrisburg.

Appeals For Acceptance
Of Controls

GENEVA (AP)—The United States urged the general disarmament conference Wednesday to start an immediate search for ways to eliminate safely the world's nuclear warheads and other weapons of mass destruction.

An experts' group should be organized at once to seek methods of halting the production of nuclear material for war purposes and the conversion of existing stockpiles to peaceful uses, the U.S. delegation said.

As part of this sweeping program, U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean introduced a partial draft treaty looking toward complete disarmament. This would be carried out by safeguarded phases to protect the security of all nations.

Balanced Out

Each arms cut step would be balanced, the document specified, so that at no stage could any state or group of states gain a military advantage.

Dean also directed a firm appeal to the Soviet Union to accept a nuclear test ban treaty with adequate international controls. The Soviets gave him a negative answer and accused the Americans of wanting to spy out military targets.

Dean and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin clashed over which of their countries was responsible for the four-year failure to write a nuclear test ban treaty.

Charges Bad Faith

Dean charged the Soviet Union showed bad faith by conducting nuclear tests last autumn after long preparations undertaken while three-power negotiations were in progress.

The United States, Dean said, was astonished by this development, as was much of the rest of the world.

So great was the surprise, he explained, that it has taken scientists half a year to prepare for a possible series of American atmospheric tests.

Those nuclear blasts are due to be touched off in mid-Pacific later this month unless the Soviets accept a treaty in the meantime. Zorin declared the Soviet government will never agree to an international control system to police a test ban. He said if the Americans test, the Russians will fire off another series of their own.

After the three-hour conference session, Dean and Zorin met with about 100 women from 10 countries who demanded that there be no more nuclear tests and that the American and Soviet governments show more flexibility and agree to a general disarmament treaty.

Helping Hand

The other day we visited in Washington, N. J., to get details on the tragic fire there early this week, and, as we interviewed Mayor Russell Beam, he said: "We never realize how many really good people there are all around us until tragedy strikes and they all gather together to help. It gives a wonderful renewal of faith in one's neighbor."

It was true, too. People came with fire trucks, emergency equipment, food, clothing, shelter and every conceivable type of help from miles and miles around. There was one common cause—to help out in any way they could.

As we go through the routine of everyday living, we seem to find a veneer of aloofness on the man we pass in the street. It would seem that the ordinary man has become hard and callous about the welfare of his neighbor. Then tragedy or trouble strikes, and the veneer drops away, revealing the beautiful attribute of compassion.

Sometimes we forget quickly, too, unless we are reminded of other times and other places. Not quite seven years ago during the disastrous floods of August 1955—the Stroudsburg area was on the receiving end of brotherhood. In the mud, muck and death the flood left in its wake, there was help and solicitude from the outside.

It is with these thoughts in mind that we would congratulate those who organized as well as those who will participate in the operation "Pocono Mountain Cleanup Brigade" this Sunday, when a large group of volunteers will leave this area to help the community of Long Beach Island, N. J., dig out from the debris deposited by a severe recent storm.

It is fitting, too, that the safari will leave after participating in early morning church services especially designated to bless their offer of a helping hand to others in need. It will in truth, be blessed in thought, word and deed.

We wish the Cleanup Brigade God-speed on their journey and success in their efforts.

How-To-Teach Courses

The Biggest single complaint that has developed in recent years about the field of teacher education is that it places too much emphasis on how-to-teach courses at the expense of subject-matter courses.

Thus it is both surprising and ironic to learn that half the Pennsylvania colleges approved for educating elementary teachers fail to offer the one how-to-teach course that justifiably could be called the most vital of them all—the teaching of reading.

That fact has turned up in a Department of Public Instruction survey. Its importance was stressed by Dr. Richard A. Gibboney, director of the DPI's Bureau of Curriculum Development, in a speech Saturday at a State conference on reading at Lehigh University.

"Despite these critics who say that what the world needs least is another education course, the evidence suggests that this is precisely what we need," he said.

Only 50 percent of the elementary teachers graduating this June from Pennsylvania institutions "will have had systematic training in teaching the most important subject in the elementary school," said Dr. Gibboney. He also cited the difficulty encountered by prospective secondary teachers who want to improve their knowledge of the reading process.

"This lack of courses may account for many of our problems in making reading instruction what we know it should be. . . . A course in the teaching of reading may not be as respectable as nuclear physics on many campuses, but few would deny that reading is at least as important."

Better teacher preparation is, of course, but one aspect of the job that must be done to upgrade the reading program in our schools. But it's an important aspect, and it's one the State Council of Education could take quick measures to improve.

Several months ago the Council took under consideration a proposal that all prospective teachers take one course in the teaching of reading. The proposal should be approved.

All this is not to suggest compromising the steps already taken to strengthen the liberal arts side of teacher preparation. Three years ago the Council set a minimum of 60 semester hours in subject-matter courses before college graduates could be certified to teach in the State. It was a wise move. The aim now should be to make the how-to-teach courses still in the curriculum as productive as possible. And if that means setting up priorities, certainly the teaching of reading should be at the top of the list.

Am I A Square?

Every day, when I pick up the newspapers, I see articles and photographs about the private lives of Liz Taylor and Eddie Fisher and somebody called Burton. And I am strictly bored. Does that make me a square?

According to the publicity and the photographs, the aforementioned Liz and Burton are in a picture called "Cleopatra" which is said, costs $32,000,000, which is a whole lot of money and which will take some doing to get it back. The also aforesaid Eddie is not in the picture.

Yes, I am told that all around there are eight or nine children involved in this exhibitionism and that sooner or later they will read the press items and see the pictures and they will, if they are properly reared, be ashamed or maybe they will become juvenile delinquents out of hatred and spite, or maybe they will go and do likewise when they grow up on the principle that it happened to them, why not to me?

The adults in this business have become a bore. Every time this Liz Taylor gets out of one husband and procures another, the publicity becomes fierce. I recall the woman when she was much younger and prettier. I saw her walking down Park Avenue, holding hands, with someone she was about to marry, also young. It looked very romantic.

Then I saw her on the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf with another husband and she looked more womanly and harder. I never saw her in the company of the late Mike Todd, which I am told was an experience for the onlooker.

Eddie Fisher I only saw once, in the Stork Club. He was about to marry Debbie Reynolds and her people were with them—nice, simple, American people. It all looked so sentimental. Burton, I never saw face to face and therefore cannot say anything about him.

As I get the story, Fisher has two children by Debbie Reynolds; he has adopted Mike Todd's child by Elizabeth Taylor and an Italian child; Taylor had two children by her second husband, Wilding, but none by her first husband, Nicky Hilton, son of the hotel keeper. There is no offspring from Fisher but Burton has two children by his current wife.

Since the time of Nell Gwyn, it has been notorious that some ladies of the stage are more interested in their post-theatrical lives than in thespian responsibilities. In our age, this is encouraged because it brings the curious to the theater to see what the person looks like.

Often the bark is worse than the bite, manufactured by press agents because it has heretofore been good business to have a bad reputation. Undoubtedly a leading opponent of the vilification of Hollywood's reputation has been Walter Wanger, the producer of "Cleopatra." Time after time, he has protested against the breaking up of families by press agents.

It is therefore difficult to believe that Wanger would be a party to the publicizing of the love affairs of Elizabeth Taylor, now in his fifth edition. However, whoever put up $32,000,000 to make a picture of the utterly amoral Cleopatra, who was married to her brother and then carried with the Romans as they came into her country, may have an interest.

Shakespeare and George Bernard Shaw wrote footnotes to Cleopatra's career and were it not for that, the maid would undoubtedly be forgotten by now, when we have Nasser, the Puritan, in control of her country.

But the movies will rehabilitate her as the Queen-courtesan, and young ladies will thrill at the identification as they sit in a darkened temple, lustfully holding hands with the latest swain.

Must there be so much sincerity that one who plays a part, must also live the part? The great Sarah Bernhardt or even greater Rachel did feel their parts movingly and Anna Held, back in the days of the Rumanian Yiddish Theater, was a problem to Abraham Goldfaden, her first impresario—so much a problem that he found it convenient to send her to a cigar-maker countryman of his in London by the name of Ziegfeld, whose son in due course became such a glorified figure in the American theater.

But what of the children of these smashed homes? What becomes of them? It is a sociological problem in the formation of character.

Harrisburg—Will "GNP" return to the political wars in the Keystone State this year?

Offhand the question admittedly may not make much sense to the average Pennsylvanian on the street—but strangely perhaps, the answer conceivably could have much to do with who will emerge as Pennsylvania's next governor!

"GNP" in this instance does not refer to "Gross National Product"—a term Washington bureaucrats delight in rolling over their tongue as they chit-chat over the nation's economic ills and blurs.

Rather in this instance GNP stands for George N. Pennington—a name again perhaps meaningless to many Pennsylvanians, but one known (agonizingly in some instances) well to both Democratic and Republican warhorses of the Commonwealth.

Suffice it to say the Pennington fire and brimstone saga has lost little of its lustre and singed power aroma in the backyard annals of both Republican and

The Pennsylvania Story

Big Question Of The 'GNP'

Democratic chieftains of Pennsylvania.

The GNP saga is a curious tale and one that conceivably could have much to do with the political scene and climate in Pennsylvania in the immediate four years to come.

For a good look at the story—not chronicled in any "official recordings" of Pennsylvania's memorabilia—it's necessary to go back nearly a decade to that now notorious gumshoe gubernatorial campaign of 1954.

The campaign itself was a blapper; that year Democrats to the complete surprise of everyone including themselves marched to Pennsylvania's gubernatorial throne to occupy the seat warmed for 16 solid years (almost automatically) by long entrenched Republicans.

George Pennington had much to do with the GOP seat-warming of earlier years. His vitriolic typewriter keys took care of that. It was in 1947 however that he and then GOP Governor James H. Duff split their sails—with Pennington walking out in a fiery pothole of disagreement with Duff over party policy.

Seven years later in a "surprise" switch, he turned up as the background publicity and campaign strategist for a completely unknown lanky York County farm lad by name of George M. Leader.

It is generally conceded in almost any knowing behind-the-scenes discussion here on Capitol Hill that in the main it was George N. Pennington and his smoke-begrimed typewriter that knocked Pennsylvania Republicans haywire that year, and in unquestionably the upset of the century, sent Democratic farm boy George M. Leader into the Governor's Office—notwithstanding a then near-one million registration lead held by Republicans.

Up to the more recent date of 1958, when present Democratic Governor David L. Lawrence squeaked into second floor suite atop Capitol Hill by a piddling majority of 76,083 votes, it will be recalled that there was a Democratic primary fight that year on the governorship front between Mr. Lawrence and then Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman.

Mr. Furman lost the primary race but reportedly was ready to throw his support in the general election campaign behind Republican Arthur T. McGonigle—but who just prior to the $100 Democratic fund raising dinner here that fall was persuaded by Mr. Pennington to publicly support the Lawrence candidacy!

Significant item: Mr. Lawrence that fall won by a mere 76,083—and a shift of only 49,000 votes, could have scuttled him; or in other words, a lack of Furman endorsement that year most conceivably could have cost Mr. Lawrence his governorship!

Will the hard-driving, gray-thatched George N. Pennington appear on the scene again this year? When we contacted him by phone at his Butler County home the other day he said he didn't know; that he would "await developments" before deciding.

This year there's a strong parallel with 1954—conditionwise—fancy if he decides to enter the fray—on either side—this facet is worth remembering: He has yet to lose a major campaign over which he has had complete control!

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

Something new has been added to the Poconos' summer program with the announcement that a new repertory company will offer three plays for John Q. Public's evening delight or, if you please, dislike.

The group, headed by James Stevenson, Ferdinand Hooker and Robert E. Irvin, will be based at the new Cherry Lane Playhouse, East Stroudsburg, RD 3.

Unlike other organizations which fostered the same ideas regionally—starting from scratch and ending up with no scratch (cash)—the Cherry Laneers are building their treasury now to a point where they hope the summer won't seem too long.

All members of the organization have had Broadway or off-the-Great White Way experience. While only a few are known outside of the theatrical world for their accomplishments, the backgrounds of the not-so-fortunate appear destined for a brighter future.

This is not a fly-by-night unit. They know the hazards and pitfalls of such a venture. And if pre-opening efforts are any indication of "things to come" the Cherry Lane actors and actresses will have accomplished more in less time than their predecessors of bygone years.

Right now the Cherry Laneers are renovating and redecorating a huge barn into the style of a Greek arena theatre. Work has been moving along at a good pace—so fast that plans call for rehearsals to get underway the middle of this month. June 11 is the target date set for the opening of the Poconos' newest playhouse.

The schedule of familiar and established plays includes Charles's Aunt, The Crucible and Our Town.

Also planned is a series of classical and semi-classical concerts, plus puppet performances for children.

Conversing with this clean-cut group of individuals brought out the feeling that they know the rough road they have to travel. Also they know this specific endeavor isn't the highway to a fast buck. The Cherry Laneers also realize time will be a big asset, and, as such, are blending their talents to one word—perfection.

There is need locally for what the Cherry Lane Playhouse plans to offer. If you shake up their experience and mix well the patience of the public possibly from this concoction will come the Poconos' brightest evening offering for the summer of 1962.

The Allen-Scott Report

Endorsement Of McCormack Expected

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, April 5. — All the signs point to Massachusetts Attorney General Edward McCormack's winning the state Democratic conventions endorsement for senator.

The convention takes place in Springfield, June 7-9, but already McCormack has a considerable lead over Edward Kennedy, 30-year-old brother of the President. The 1,763 delegates are now being elected at ward meetings.

Significantly, McCormack is capturing delegates in localities reputedly strong for young Kennedy.

Another telltale straw in the wind is the unannounced decision of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen to back McCormack. He was informed of that by a group of BRT officials.

"We are heartily behind President Kennedy in Washington," said their spokesman, "but that doesn't mean we have to support the whole family. In this race, we're for you."

The state convention's endorsement will not necessarily ensure 39-year-old McCormack's gaining the senatorial nomination. It is not uncommon for aspirants to be approved by the convention, only to lose out in the ensuing primary—September 18.

But in this instance, the convention's backing will carry special weight and definitely be a boon to McCormack in the primary.

A hot primary clash is apparently in the cards as young Kennedy has avowed his intention to "go all the way" for the coveted prize regardless of what the convention does.

Both sides are busily girding for that. The race is certain to attract nationwide attention.

The fighting already is stormy.

Big Brother Is Watching — A vivid illustration of that was the Pittsfield meeting in which Attorney General McCormack scored heavily in the election of convention delegates.

Although the President is meticulously staying out of the explosive fray, his young brother-in-law brought him squarely into this ward gathering in an effort to win votes.

F. Richard Drennan, running as a Kennedy delegate, warned that his rejection might prove painful to Massachusetts.

"It is very advisable to keep in mind," declared Drennan, "that President Kennedy has another two years in office, and we do not want to burn our bridges to the White House. It would be most embarrassing not to be in a position to seek favors from the Administration in Washington because of our turn-down of the President's brother."

This line of campaigning was caustically berated by Peter Arlos, a McCormack partisan.

"I am astounded to hear such talk," he retorted. "It is the 'soup kitchen' approach to politics, in which backs line up for a hand-out. Surely we are above that sort of thing in deciding a senatorial nomination. The goal of the Democratic party is community betterment on the world, national, state and local levels, and that can be accomplished by service to the people and not by patronage."

"I cannot believe that President Kennedy, beset with problems and issues of far-flung scope and tremendous complexity, would seek to vent petty vengeance on those who desire only to exercise their constitutional right to vote for the candidate of their choice. That would be wholly alien to him, and I refuse to be bluffed by empty talk."

Mrs. Rose Kennedy, mother of the candidate, and several of his sisters are slated to actively campaign for him. They are old hands at that, having vigorously elected one of their sons to the White House in his races for Congress and the White House.

Politics — President Kennedy has agreed to address a $100-a-plate dinner in Milwaukee May 11. It will be the first $100 affair the Democrats have attempted there. It is being handled by State Chairman Patrick Lucey, who decided that over the misgivings of other party leaders, Lucey's goal is an attendance of 2,000, but other Democratic chiefs doubt that more than 1,000 will be on hand promised to give National Chairman John Bailey half the money raised at the dinner, to help pay off the remainder of the 1960 campaign debt. . . . Former Central Intelligence Director Allen Dulles has a new government job. He has accepted an offer from Defense Secretary McNamara to assist in revising the anti-Communist indoctrination program for U.S. troops.

In preparation for this, Dulles has been visiting Army and Marine bases. Dulles agreed to undertake this work at the urging of President Kennedy.

Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon is being twitted by Democratic congressional leaders on his ineffectualness in winning Republican support for the President's tax bill. Dillon, life-long Republican and Undersecretary of State in the Eisenhower Administration, had expressed confidence he could line up some 20 House Republicans for the controversial measure. But on the showdown, only one Republican backed the bill.

Speaker John McCormack smilingly told Dillon, "I sure hope you can do better for us when the President's trade liberalization measure comes up." With a grin Dillon replied, "So do I. I'll certainly do my utmost." . . . New York upstate Democratic leaders are boosting Howard J. Samuels, leading young manufacturer, as a candidate for governor. Already nine county chairmen have announced willingness to run against Governor Rockefeller, but says he is doing nothing to seek the nomination. World War II veteran, Samuels was on the staff of the late famed General Patton, who personally decorated Samuels for outstanding heroism in Third Army's epic drive across France.

Inside You And Yours

Vitamin-Mineral Questions

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Q: Which vitamins cause hair loss?

A: Excess vitamin A may—especially around the eyebrows. But such cases are rare. Otherwise, baldness has never been linked to vitamin-lack or excess.

Q: Can any vitamin restore my lost sense of smell?

A: Possibly. Giant vitamin A injections are supposed to have restored the sense of smell to 48 out of 53 New Zealanders. Doctors used vitamin A because animals that didn't get enough couldn't sniff odors as well as their better-nourished mates.

Q: Which contains more vitamins and more nutrition, beef or pork?

A: There's little difference—although pork contains some extra vitamin B-1 (thiamine). Both supply essential protein. Better than either, liver is chock-full of iron, vitamins A, B-1, B-2 and niacin.

Q: Quality of meat is more important than the kind. When hamburger's 30 percent fat (stained with meat juice) who cares whether it's pork or beef?

A: Which is more fattening, margarine or butter and which has more vitamins?

A: Margarine is made to supply exactly the same amount of vitamin A and food energy as ordinary butter. You'll find 100 calories in each tablespoonful—the same number you find in 20 stalks of celery, 1½ cantaloupes or a large glass of skim milk.

Q: Do I stop taking vitamins when summer comes?

A: If you need extra vitamins, you need them all year around. Smog, fog and smoke can filter out most of sunshine's vitamin D-making oomph. Eating less won't cut your need for B and O vitamins if you down calories in pop, juices and milk shakes. . . . What's all this about a hay diet? You mean people actually eat that stuff?

Q: This diet—named for a Dr. Hay—prohibits combinations of certain foods. While it forbids mixing starch and protein, it calls for whole wheat bread—chock-full of both! And people actually swallow this stuff!

Any more vitamin questions? Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Stroudsburg Council Mum On Penny Parking Request

STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night took no action on a request by the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. for a return to use of pennies in the borough's parking meters.

President Jack Mullins reported customers "complaining bitterly" about the meters, which now accept only nickels, dimes or quarters with the minimum parking time being five cents for one-half hour in the heavily-parked Main St. business district.

Mullins and Robert Miller, operator of a grocery store, represented the association at the meeting. They said they had no quarrel with a charge of five cents for a half hour of parking, but thought that penny operations — which would provide six minutes — should be resumed.

Mullins said customers seem to be blaming the merchants for the situation. "We're not demanding a change," Mullins said. "We want to be understanding and tolerant."

Cost $250 to $300

He pointed out that if the cost of such a move is prohibitive he would favor the status quo. Harold E. Snyder estimated it would cost between $250 and $300 to change back to penny operation, including discarding new rate plates already ordered, the cost of legal service and re-advertising of the ordinance and the change in parts in the meters to adopt them for penny operation.

Mullins said he felt the restoration of diagonal parking on the south side of Main St. is more important than the change in the parking meter rate. No action was taken on the parking change.

Council took the first step toward eventual planning and zoning for the borough with adoption of an ordinance establishing a department of borough planning, providing for a five-member planning commission which will serve without pay and designating the duties of such a commission. Naming of members of the commission was postponed until the next meeting.

In other action, Council: Directed Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess to draw up plans for lighting entrances and exits of the Stroudsburg Thruway in accordance with minimum standards of the State Highways Dept. and to submit them to council for approval. They must eventually be approved by the state and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Heard Mayor Joseph H. Small report that the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. in conjunction with a similar group in East Stroudsburg is having plans drawn for signs to be placed on the Thruway pointing out the business districts of the two towns.

"Area Of Disagreement" Heard a report from its fire committee that an "area of disagreement" exists in the department over the necessity for purchasing a new truck for the department and deferred action on the matter until the disagreement is resolved and there are more funds available for such a purchase.

Awarded to Houdaille Construction Materials, Inc., a contract for 235 cubic yards of Class A concrete for W. Main St. curbs at a price of $15.20 a yard, net, and to Stroudsburg Septic Tank Co. the contract for 424 feet of 12 inch reinforced concrete pipe for use on W. Main St. at $1.70 a foot and for 360 feet of 15 inch pipe at $1.25 a foot. Each was the only bid received.

Confirmed the election of Nelson Lightner Jr., as chief and William Schroeder as assistant chief of the fire department for three-year terms from the first Thursday in April.

Ratified appointment of playground personnel for the 1962 season including Samuel O. Wells, director; George Metropoulos, assistant director; Walter Bjorn, Charles Winters, Samuel S. Everitt, Thomas Gross, Judy Eapson and Patricia Everitt, life guards; and Suzanne Somers, playground supervisor.

Accepted Manor Dr. as a borough street at the request of property owners.

Pass Ordinance

Passed an ordinance establishing lines and grades of curb on W. Main St. and providing for construction of curbs and authorized preparation and service of notice on property owners on the street for construction of curbs. The State Highway Dept. will rebuild the street this summer at an estimated cost of about $70,000 to the state.

Authorized a street light on Manor Dr. near Grove St. if a line is located near enough to the point so that the installation can be made without excessive expenditures.

Granted permission to the Pocono Mountains Junior Chamber of Commerce for permission to hold an Easter egg hunt on the playground.

Turned down a request by the Fraternal Order of Eagles for parking on 10th St. during their twice a month meetings.

Mt. Pocono Seeks Action On Traffic

MOUNT POCONO — Borough council voted last night to have the borough secretary write a letter to Department of Highways in Harrisburg to seek information of the survey that was to be conducted in the borough in January.

The survey deals with the "hazards" of truck traffic within the borough limits.

In other business, the street committee reported that the patching of borough streets has been completed. The sanitation committee requested the borough to advertise for a second-hand "pay-loader" to be used at the dump and to aid in the removal of snow.

The audit committee reported that they had completed the audit of the 1961 report and they found no exceptions or deficiencies in the borough accounts.

The council also approved a motion for Daylight Saving Time to go into effect April 29 and end October 28.

During the past month, police made 37 patrols, one criminal investigation, investigated five accidents, answered three requests for assistance, made 10 traffic arrests and issued 10 parking tickets.

standing in the burned-out quarter block on East Washington Ave., in the heart of the business district of the community, were demolished Tuesday and yesterday, and squads of cleanup crews from all over the area began the job of clearing the debris.

Offers of help in the rehabilitation and rebuilding process came from New Jersey State agencies as well as the Federal Government. Governor Richard Hughes, in a message to Mayor Russell Beam, compared the fire loss to that sustained by shore communities in the state several weeks ago.

The governor stated that New Jersey was planning to send experts in all fields into the stricken borough to assist in any way they could. The Small Business Administration has also met with businessmen and property owners to discuss ways and means of rebuilding the destroyed properties.

100 Jobless

Steps were also taken to see if immediate financial assistance could be obtained for the approximately 100 persons who were thrown out of employment by the fire. Red Cross and Salvation Army units have been coordinating in providing immediate assistance, as well as making plans for long-range help to those affected.

The cause of the fire has not been ascertained, and with the pile of sodden rubble that faces inspectors it will be difficult to ever pinpoint the cause, officials believed. The fire destroyed eight buildings, which contained 12 different business establishments and left 16 families who lived upstairs in apartments homeless.

Mayor Beam said yesterday that he planned an early meeting of owners of the destroyed properties to determine what could be done about rebuilding the area. He said there was some talk of pooling the effort, hiring an architect, and making it a common enterprise.

Traffic began to move normally on Route 24, which traverses the main street of the borough, late Tuesday night. Business establishments in the area, which had been closed down by proximity to the fire-fighting and cleanup operations, began opening their doors one by one yesterday, and it was anticipated that activity would be back to normal today—except for the aping void left by the fire in the usually busy area.

Aid Businesses

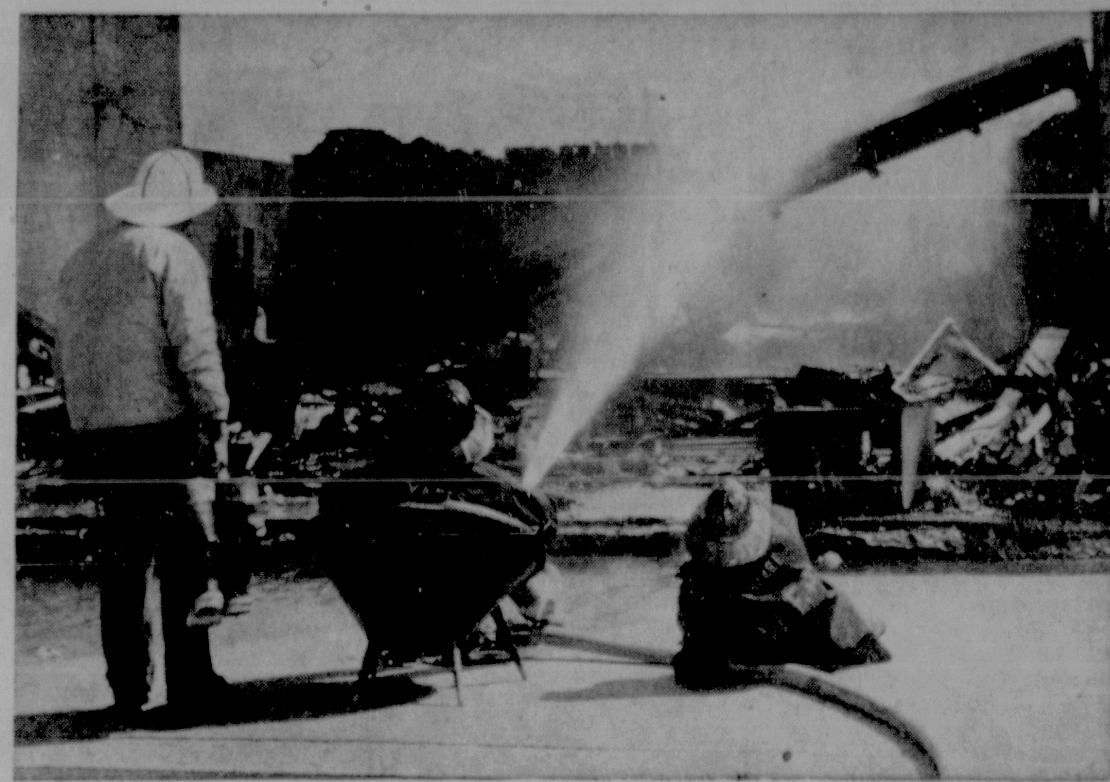

In the meantime, other stores in the area were providing a number of the services normally given by the stores which were destroyed. A number of business and professional men opened their offices and stores to accommodate their counterparts in the burned area.

Washington has begun the long road to recovery, but it will be a considerably long time before the scars of devastating flames are completely erased.

Army Cites Ex-Gap Resident

A DEPARTMENT of the Army Certificate of Achievement for "exceptionally meritorious service as a photolithographic specialist" was presented to SFC Carl Jennings, formerly of Delaware Water Gap, at a recent ceremony at the U.S. Army Engineer Geodesy, Intelligence and Mapping Research and Development Agency Fort Belvoir, Va. Colonel W.H. Van Atta, Director, made the presentation.

SFC Jennings was cited specifically for his work in the Graphics Division of the Agency during the period of from June 1, 1956 to March 23 of this year.

The certificate stated that SFC Jennings through "superior effort, ability, and initiative contributed greatly to the evaluation of numerous color proving techniques, rub-on plate coatings, and brush surfacing techniques for use by field topographic units. In addition, his skill, knowledge, and performance with photolithographic equipment were significant contributions in the development of both a three-color printing process and a monochrome printing process for the rapid reproduction of maps in the field. His work contributed significantly to the operations of the Graphics Division and thus reflected great credit upon himself, the Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Army."

Joined in 1944
SFC Jennings entered the Army in October, 1944, and has served in the Asiatic Pacific Theater, the Philippines, and Korea. His awards and decorations include the Combat Infantryman's Badge, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Good Conduct, Asiatic Pacific, Korean, and U.N. Ribbons. He was assigned to Fort Belvoir in 1956, but is scheduled to leave for an assignment in Japan.

A native of Pennsylvania, SFC Jennings attended high school at Stroudsburg. During his assignment at Fort Belvoir, he resided with his wife at 109 Monticello Rd., Alexandria.

SFC Jennings' mother, Mrs. John Jennings Sr., resides at Delaware Water Gap.

2 Keystoneians Convicted

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A federal court jury has convicted two Pennsylvanians and a former Camden trucking company of conspiracy and violation of interstate commerce commission rules.

They are Jacob Polin of Bala Cynwyd, Pa., an IOC practitioner; John Richards of Scranton, Pa., former head of Richards Freight Lines of Scranton; and Phil-Jer Freightways, Inc., of New York, formerly of Camden.

Judge Thomas F. Mooney continued Polin and Richards on $1,000 bond each Tuesday after the verdict was returned. The defense counsel said a motion will be made to have the verdict set aside.

The jury deliberated 5½ hours after a two-week trial.

The defendants were accused of conspiring between Dec. 1, 1957 and June 1, 1958, to make false statements to the IOC in acquiring the transportation rights of Laurel Transportation Corp. of Wildwood for Richards Freight Lines.

Lawrence Commends 'Cleanup'

GOV. David L. Lawrence has commended the Monroe County Firemen's Assn. for its planned trip to Long Beach Island, N.J., this weekend to aid in cleaning up storm damage.

Gov. Lawrence issued his statement just before leaving for Japan. It said:

"I want to congratulate Monroe County's citizens on the formation of the 'Pocono Cleanup Brigade' and its forthcoming visit to Long Beach Island in New Jersey. I also want to commend the volunteer firemen of the county who are coordinating the drive to aid this disaster-stricken community.

"Anything Pennsylvania can do to help its neighbors is a constructive investment in good will. I wish Monroe County well in this effort and I am confident it will be a success.

"It is especially fitting that this project be undertaken by the men and women of the Stroudsburg, who remember only too well the great, unselfish assistance they received from others during the Brodheads Creek flood in 1955. The coming visit to Long Beach Island will repay a portion of the gratitude Pennsylvania feels for the help its people have been given in the past."

Fire Routs Kim Novak

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Kim Novak, wearing a sable coat over a nightgown, fled along with several hundred other guests Wednesday when a kitchen fire sent smoke swirling through the exclusive Plaza Hotel.

Two persons were treated for smoke poisoning, but no one suffered any other ill effects in the Fifth Avenue blaze.

Miss Novak, her face bereft of makeup, ran from her room on the 14th floor of the Plaza.

"Oh, my gosh," she exclaimed. "What a way to make an exit."

The film star planned to find an elevator, but a fireman stopped her in the hall and assured her there was no danger and she returned to her room.

CAROL EVANS

Designer Originals

For Little Girls with Big Fashion Ideas! so sensational a national woman's magazine picked it up for its Easter editorial and a cover!

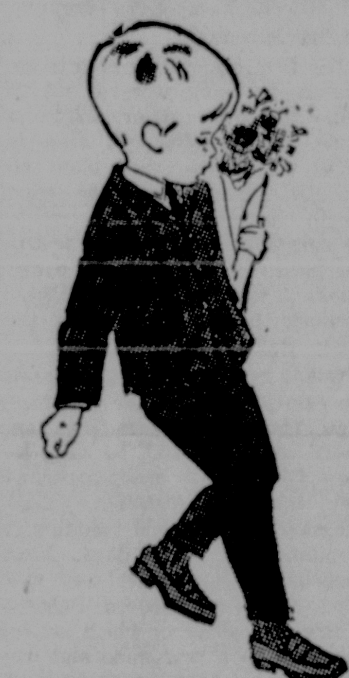

Penney's has pretty'd little girls since the days of pigtailed and ten-penny muslin pantaloons—but, in 60 years, we've really never had this much fun! Even our innovating grandpappy buyers would never have dared this! But our bold young fellows of today went all out...figured nothing ventured, nothing won! They approached a very la-dee-da children's designer—asked her if she'd like the opportunity to dress, (exactly to her good taste), more little girls from coast-to-coast, with one collection, than she could do in a month of Easter Sundays! Of course, she was tempted and here are—the tempting results! Fabulous cottons, whimsical appliques, expensive embroideries, tiny matching pipings, comfy cuts, suitable and tasteful sophistication—and—the most divine shade of robin's egg blue is the unmistakable signature of these fabled fledgling fashions!

Turn On Your Porch Light! Cancer Crusade Invading

TODAY is C-Day in Monroe County.

A local task force of some 500 men and women will be part of a nationwide army of more than 2,000,000 volunteers who will launch the American Cancer Society's annual April Crusade.

"C-Day stands for Conquer Cancer," said Richard Walters, chairman of the Monroe County Cancer Crusade.

"Starting today, volunteers of Monroe County Cancer unit of the American Cancer Society will call on friends and neighbors with the double-barreled objective of saving lives now as well as in the future."

Tonight volunteer workers plan to invade every home in Monroe County in an attempt to reach its goal of $8,200.

Walters said the slogan for Monroe is "Perth, Australia, turned on its lights for Col. John Glenn, let's all light our porches for cancer tonight."

"Every resident in the county can cooperate in this venture," said Walters, "by heeding the advice in the life-saving educational literature which volunteers will distribute and by making a generous contribution."

Right now, half of all cancer patients who will get cancer this year could be cured if their cancers were detected and treated in time, Walters asserted. "Our immediate objective is to help save these lives — an estimated 290,000 men, women and children."

"The long-range objective," he added, "is to save the other 260,000 cancer victims who will get cancer this year. Hope for them rests with scientists who are searching for breakthroughs that will cure all types of cancer or perhaps prevent them."

"The more money that we can earmark for cancer education," he pointed out, "the more people we can reach with life-saving information; the more money that can be invested in cancer research, the sooner we will arrive at a solution to the cancer problem. I urge every one of my fellow countians to give generously to the Crusade and to help Monroe County exceed its goal."

Walters last night announced district workers. They include:

Damages Paid For Fish Kill

HARRISBURG (AP) — The receipt of $9,300 in damage payments for fish kills in the Delaware River and Bowman's Run was reported Wednesday by the Fish Commission.

Executive Director Albert M. Day said the Bethlehem Steel Co. remitted $7,600 for three or four fish kills in the Delaware River. The remaining $1,700 came from Armour & Co. for a fish kill on Bowman's Run, Day added.

He said Bowman's Run has been restocked with trout on assurances from Armour that the toxic acids which caused the fish kill have been eradicated.

Meanwhile, the commission and the state Health Department are continuing an investigation into the death of some 2,000 trout last month in the Quittapahilla Creek between Annville and Valley Glen Park in Lebanon County.

The kill was caused by cyanide gas, according to B. F. Barnhart, fish warden for Dauphin and Lebanon counties. However, investigators have yet to trace the source of the poisoning.

POINTS WITH PRIDE — Joseph Murray, Barrett Twp. school teacher points to self-explanatory poster of Cancer Crusade. Drive for funds officially gets under way tonight with porch light invasion by Monroe Chapter of Cancer Society volunteers throughout the county. Other workers are left to right: Mrs. Donald Heller, Hamilton Twp.; Murray; Mrs. Ralph Dunlap, Tobyhanna; and Miss Sally Singer, Jackson Twp.

Talks Open On Faster Coal Shipping

PENNSYLVANIA Power and Light Company is negotiating with the Pennsylvania Railroad for bigger and faster shipments of coal under a new rail transport concept which would result in reduced fuel costs for the utility, according to Chas. E. Oakes, PP&L board chairman.

The new concept involves delivery of a whole train load of coal at one time, hauled at high speed by powerful locomotives operating on fast schedules.

The first application of this approach is being worked out in connection with deliveries from a mine in the Pittsburgh area to PP&L's Martins Creek plant on the Delaware River. The train would carry 6,000 tons of coal in 70 cars and would travel nearly 400 miles from mine to power plant. A similar plan for PP&L's Brunner Island plant is in the study stage.

Oakes said considerable time is necessary to effect the program, that at least four major steps were required. First, he said, the new freight rate must go before the Interstate Commerce Commission, which will require a minimum of sixty days. Next, negotiations are under way with the owners of western Pennsylvania coal property which involve opening up a new mine and contracting for its full production. It is expected that at least a half year will be required to make the new mine operable.

Federal School Aid Added

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House added $15.7 million Wednesday to the program of federal aid for school districts that serve children of federal employees.

The money, added to a $447.5-million supplemental appropriation bill, would restore a cut in the program made by Congress last year. It is for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1962.

The bill was sent to the Senate by voice vote.

President Kennedy did not ask for the extra school aid funds. The administration has been trying to cut down the program, known as the impacted areas program, in hopes of getting a general school aid bill.

MECO Receives Recognition

METROPOLITAN Edison Company received national recognition for its outstanding sales accomplishments in a ceremony Tuesday, at the 28th Annual Sales Conference of the Edison Electric Institute, at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago.

John L. Beaver, commercial and industrial sales director, accepted the award for MECO's record in the field of commercial electric cooking promotion. This is the second time that MECO received this award in the past four years. Presentation was made by Robert Zimmerman, vice president of the Kansas City Power and Light Company.

The company's record of 44 per cent increase in electric cooking sales in restaurants, schools, hotels and institutions during 1961 was the major factor in securing this recognition among 196 member utilities of the Edison Electric Institute.

High speed electronic cooking, heated dish and food dispensers and automatic coffee makers are only a few of the electric items that speed service in the modern food service kitchen.

This three-day conference is held annually and is attended by more than 900 presidents, vice presidents, sales managers and other utility people directly interested in the sale of electric energy to homes, businesses and industries.

Water Gap Council Okays Ordinances On Street Jobs

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Two ordinances relating to street work within the borough were passed at Monday's meeting of Borough Council.

It was announced the State Highways Dept. will do the work on Broad St. from Cherry Creek to the borough limits and on Glenwood Ave. from the bridge to the Foxtown Hill Rd.

A letter was received from the local Parent-Teacher Assn. asking that signs be placed at Oak and Main Sts. and at the crossing from Glenwood Ave. to Cherry Creek Bridge to insure the safety of school children.

Council decided that, after the blacktopping has been completed, the roads will be white-lined to make motorists come to a full stop at pedestrian crossings. Main St. near the public school alley will be similarly marked.

A complaint was received from women crossing Broad St. from Glenwood Ave. that use of the flashing traffic signal there does not give them time to cross the road. It was decided the light will be changed to a regular stop-and-go operation.

The State Highways Dept. notified council that its request for a two-way ramp leading from the tool gates at the bridge to the information booth and back to the main highway has been refused. The information booth must also be moved.

Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess advised council to take no action on the drainage problem on Dogwood Trail until two homes being constructed there are finished. Hess said when the homes are built a short stretch of road will be built from Cherokee St. past them which is expected to solve the drainage problem.

Seek Ball Park

Councilmen Fred Shoemaker and William Heitler were named to see Harold B. Crossdale about the use of a piece of his land as a ball park for youngsters.

It was announced that extensive repairs will be needed to the reservoir, where one wall is weakening, and to the tank on the Heights, which has a bad leak.

Phil Farber, Hess and C. E. DePuy attended a meeting in Washington, D. C., at which the proposed new reservoir on Mt. Minet was discussed.

Mayor Arthur Lehr said Rep. Van D. Yetter had inspected the Rim Rock project and it is hoped the Legislature will authorize construction of at least part of the road in that area this Summer.

Police Chief Fred Decker reminded councilmen and citizens that he can be contacted by calling the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Control Center at HA 1-2233 in emergencies.

36-Story Space Rocket

NEW YORK (AP) — A space rocket as tall as a 36-story building — the one that may carry three Americans to the moon in 1970 — was described Wednesday by a U.S. space agency engineer.

The rocket is called Nova — a three-stage monster standing about 360 feet tall with its moonship payload, and 50 feet in diameter at its base.

So reported Alfred G. Orillon of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration before a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

The first stage of Nova, carrying six million pounds of propellant and standing 115 feet high, will produce a thrust or push of more than 12 million pounds.

The second stage, also 115 feet high, would have a two-million-pound push. The third stage, standing 82 feet high, will have one or more one-million-pound thrust engines.

Hong Kong means "Fragrant Harbor" in Chinese.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

There is always the reverse side of the coin. If it was impossible for me to maintain for any length of time the fiction that I was a Personage in Pisa; it was also impossible for me to regard the real Personages I met with the proper awe—for any length of time.

My brother-in-law, Joseph C. Wheeler, having been designated as official representative of the American Ambassador to Italy, was certainly entitled to more respect than he got from the car-full of women who were just as free with their back-seat driving as if he were just Brother Joe.

Nevertheless, I found comfort in the dignity of his position—and his Italian, as we went down for the first meeting with the official representative of my hosts, the Provincial Bureau of Tourism for Pisa.

But I needn't have worried: He was a sweet man with excellent English, a complete outline of the next day's activities, and an answer to all my anxious questions such as would I have to make a speech, and when could I present Gov. Lawrence's letter to President Gronchi—everything except the all-important question of what I should wear when.

After dinner at the hotel with hovering waiters and excellent food, we had a style show trying to decide. The answer for the morning tour was obvious. With the wind and unexpected chill in the usually balmy Italian air, that borrowed raincoat and a sweater and skirt would have to do.

For the dinner after the presentation a long-sleeved metallic cloth dinner dress was all I had. But the presentation? The black two-piece dress David Goffe had brought me in the nick of time would be all right with the white kid gloves I had been saving for the wedding—but what about the hat?

A family can be a very critical audience—and that brim was big. When I had first brought it home from the Fashion Shows, my daughter had told me firmly that I looked exactly like a load under a mushroom, and the image stuck. But without the brim, I felt defenseless. And how would it look on television, which we had been warned would be out in full force to cover President Gronchi?

Still undecided we all went to bed—but not to sleep. Restless, I reached over to turn on the bed table lamp—hit the wrong button on the miniature switchboard by the bed, and got the maid before I found the light.

This despite the fact that each outfit was marked plainly with a picture as well as text for the benefit of such illiterate travelers as I who could not speak one language. But this time I was sure that the whole thing was a horrible mistake, that I should be laughed out of the hall, and that I was shrinking, like Alice, after she drank the "Drink Me" bottle.

Fortunately, before I vanished altogether leaving nothing but the hat on the rug, I woke to a sunny day, a breakfast of bacon and eggs, and a meeting with the other prize winners. The first prize-winner, a Belgian, was a charming young man who spoke eight languages fluently and was as modest and comforting as he could be.

Well, I thought, contentedly, all I have to do is trail along in his wake. What I had forgotten is how Italian men feel about women. Any woman!

Jr. Women Honor Seniors With Hawaiian Hospitality

For their mothers and guests from the Senior Women's Club, the Junior Women on Tuesday night presented the Wahines of the Poconos in a series of Hawaiian dances. To accommodate the large crowd and the dance, the meeting was moved to the meeting rooms of the YMCA.

Palm trees and orchids, fishnets and flowers formed the background for the dancing, while Mrs. Frederick Jones as narrator explained the history of the hula as a native folk dance, serving to record the history and stories of the Island people before there was a written language.

The hands tell the story while the hips represent the roll of the ocean, Mrs. Jones explained. Before the coming of the Portuguese in 1877 and their introduction of the ukulele, the Hawaiian danced to the best of bamboo, gourds, the click of lava rocks and their own chants.

Three of the dances featured these primitive instruments: Kawaikae," using the single bamboo, and "Nane Walo Na Hale" with the double bamboos and Hela with lava rocks. A fourth, "Hawaiian War Chant" featured feathered gourds.

Mrs. Jones also described the variety of costumes worn on the Islands of which the most often thought of is the grass skirt with colorful bodice, flowers in the hair and the lei of flowers as a sign of friendship.

Other dances presented included "Hawaiian Hospitality," "To You Sweetheart, Aloha" and "Song of Old Hawaii." Mrs. John Shinn is the director of the class and Mrs. T. I. Metzgar is president.

Mrs. Jones, besides giving the background of the dances themselves explained that Wahine Club members contribute weekly fees which are given to local charities. The group has contributed to the school for retarded children before it was given state aid; to Laurel Manor; and now has a fund to be used for some phase of the children's ward when the new wing of the hospital is completed.

Taking part in the dances were Mrs. Jack Shinn, Mrs. Francis Shinn, Mrs. Jo McDowell, Mrs. Fred Titus, Mrs. Warner DePue, Mrs. M. Stiles Baldwin, Mrs. Horace Westbrook, Mrs. Harvey Pullen and Mrs. T. I. Metzgar.

Mrs. John Martucci and Mrs. James Kison were in charge of decorating.

Mrs. Richard Primrose presided at the meeting when the past presidents of the club, founded in 1922, were introduced. They were presented with orchid name cards, made by Mrs. Ora Fitzsimmons, and with club year books.

Present to receive the awards were: Mrs. Dorothy Keller, Mrs. G. E. McGuire, Mrs. Edward Hess, Mrs. Clifford F. Heller, Mrs. Harace R. Westbrook, Mrs. Jack Mullins, Mrs. Shimer E. Kublie, Miss Catherine Wolverson, Mrs. Olaf Pedersen, Mrs. John W. Sibley, Mrs. Warren F. Mikels, Mrs. Elwood C. German, Mrs. Richard O. MacDonough, Mrs. Robert Bixler, Jr., Mrs. William Morgan and Mrs. Lawrence Levy.

The entertainment was introduced by Mrs. Stanley Grace.

Mrs. William Huffman, membership chairman, introduced as new members: Mrs. William Ma-rean, Mrs. John Manshart and Mrs. Robert Sullivan.

A complete report on the successful Pancake Festival was given Mrs. John Gregory who thanked all chairmen and members for their part in its success. She announced that no one had won the contest on how Aunt Jemima would ride in the parade.

Mrs. Lawrence Levy gave the report of the nominating committee. Reports were also given by Mrs. Numa Snyder for the welfare committee and Mrs. Richard Krueger for ways and means. Easter cards will be sent to residents at the county home by Mrs. William Huffman.

Members were urged to attend the Spring County Federation dinner meeting on April 26 when the speakers will be Miss Winifred Hammer and Mrs. Everett Sanford. Mrs. Harrison Taylor will demonstrate flower arrangements, and there will be a contest for artificial flower arrangements by club members. The Junior Women's Club is host to the meeting with Mrs. Gary Keller as chairman.

Mrs. Richard Smith announced that the annual Spring banquet will be held at Sky Hi Lodge on May 19. Mrs. Lawrence Levy announced the Laurel Blossom Cotillion for June 8 at Pocono Manor. Prizes were won by Mrs. James Beers and Mrs. John Pentz and Mrs. James Sheeley and her committee served refreshments in the Hawaiian theme.

Catholic Youth Conference At Pocono Missions

Mount Pocono—A Day of Recollection for 235 girls and boys of the eighth grade and high school from Monroe and Pike Counties was held Saturday in the Mount Pocono area.

They came from East Stroudsburg, Brodheadsville, Tobyhanna, Mount Pocono, Shohola, Matamoras, Milford, Greeley, Pocono Summit, Canadensis and Tannersville. Opening with mass at 9:15 at St. Mary's Church, Mount Pocono, the sessions continued at the Pocono Catholic Missions School at Paradise Valley where breakfast was served.

Retreat master was Rev. Andrew J. McGowan of Scranton, who is moderator of the Junior Catholic Daughters, director of Boy Scouts in the Scranton District; director of Camp Andrew and director of Diocesan Council of Catholic Men.

The boys and girls divided for the morning conference with Sister Annett in charge of the boys. The conferences ended with answers to written questions submitted by the young people.

After the dinner, served by nine parents, the group recited the rosary before the afternoon session when Rev. Andrew McGowan spoke.

The main objective of the conference was to have the young people return to their homes with a tremendous devotion to the Lord, he said.

Pointing out that everyone has obligations in life, he reminded them that their present duty is to do good work in school. He explained that the love of parents sometimes causes them to do things which are misunderstood by their children.

He urged each young person to ask themselves "Is this home better off because of me?" and discussed dating, going steady and other subjects of interest to young people.

The day ended after benediction at St. Mary's Church, Mount Pocono.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

No one in our Wyckoff organization (not even I) has more to say than my friend, Blanche Mackey. Blanny and I are both of the opinion that women were given mouths for talking, and we're utterly frank about it. We talk . . . but I like to feel that we usually have something worthwhile to say. (Others may differ with us . . . but after all, who can help it if we're too deep for our colleagues to understand?) Blanche has one advantage over me, however. She usually gets paid for talking . . . for much of her chatter is right down on the selling floor here at Wyckoff's, and usually earns her a nice fat commission.

Several times, astute businessmen, recognized Mackey's gift for making friends and delivering a bill of sale at the time, have tried to steal her away from Wyckoff's. It is our good fortune that she stayed, for you can't help liking Blanche. She is warmhearted, capable, honest as the day is long, and sincere. She doesn't just SAY Frigidaire products are the best on the market . . . she KNOWS IT, believes it, lives it. She is surrounded by Frigidaire appliances at home as well as at work . . . because she loves what she's selling so indisputably, it's no job at all for her to project her enthusiasm to others.

WILLIAM KANE, regional Frigidaire manager, from Philadelphia, presents Blanche Mackey with awards and citation.

Just recently, Blanche received a raft of mail. One letter was from H. M. Cline, branch manager of Frigidaire, congratulating her for being a division winner in Frigidaire's "Can You Pitch?" contest. The letter was accompanied by a check for ten dollars. A second letter was from P. H. Bushnell, merchandising manager, and a third, with a check for fifty dollars, was from John J. Diven, branch sales manager of Allentown, Pa. In all, Blannie received 60.00, with the good news that she now goes on to the regional and maybe national finals. Her pitching may win her approximately 600.00 . . . and we're betting on her.

"But what was the contest?" I asked her when she displayed her "fan mail."

"Oh . . . the general idea was to write down what you would say to a customer who was leaving the store in a mad rush, and who hadn't time to stop long enough to become interested in making an appliance purchase."

"Tell me, Blanche . . . what did you say to her?"

She pondered a moment. "I don't know now. You see, Madalyn, each customer is different. Each has different interests and different needs. Saleswork is a personal thing, and each customer an individual case. You just try to do your very best with every one and to fill the need they project to you."

That's Blanche. It doesn't matter so much what she says . . . it's just that you realize she is a woman . . . much like yourself; that she has a family . . . much like your own; that she is faced with the same household duties that plague you, and that if she is sold on Frigidaire, you'd be silly not to be equally sold. When it comes right down to it, maybe salesmanship is not so much a matter of SELLING, but of caring enough about other people and their problems to GIVE of your own personal wisdom. That's where Blannie shines.

MR. AND MRS. Thomas Bridger and daughter Debra returned, Friday, from their winter in Florida. The Bridgers will supervise the preparation of their Hotel Glenwood for its 1962 season.

Miss Iona Klepper of York, Pa. spent the week-end with her parents; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Klepper. While here she shared in what was almost a family reunion by telephone. The Kleppers received a call from their son Richard O. Klepper who is an airman in the U.S. Navy serving on U.S.S. Midway. He is stationed at LeMoore Air Base and called from Alameda, California to state that he will go out to sea April 6 and be gone until mid-October. He will receive his discharge from service the 16th of November. His parents, Iona, and Terry Klepper talked with him. Missing were the son in New York and the daughter who is with her husband abroad.

Water Gap friends are glad to know that Miss Leslie Younkins is home and recovering nicely from surgery undergone in Allentown last month.

The first graders here are proud to report home that not one of them cried when they were given shots for a T.B. test, taken in Stroudsburg Tuesday morning. The second graders had the fluoride teeth treatment and are not bragging about their bravery.

Mrs. Lura Bodine of Flemington, N.J. visited her mother, Mrs. Geo. Hay, for several days this week.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The outflow of gold from the United States is increasing again and threatens to run well ahead of 1961 levels.

Monetary authorities are experimenting with two promising countermeasures.

The Treasury announced yesterday that foreigners bought $100 million of U.S. gold in the past week. That boosted March sales to $180 million, compared with $99 million in the first two months of the year.

Ironically, while gold sales threaten to increase, there is nothing to indicate yet that the country's balance of payments deficit will exceed the 1961 level of $2.5 billion.

2.8 Per Cent Of Monroe's Population On Relief Rolls

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG — The State Department of Public Welfare reported today that 2.8 per cent of the population of Monroe County appeared on February relief rolls.

This percentage figure compares with the statewide total of 3.9 per cent for the month.

In the lower groups, 54 received blind pension payments and 52 disabled persons were on relief.

Aid to dependent children made up the largest expenditure for the month. This group received $18,579, approximately 47 per cent of the total county expenditure of $39,447.

Next largest payment was $11,598 in old age assistance, followed by $3,678 in blind pensions, $3,273 was paid out in general assistance and $2,319 in aid to disabled assistance.

The total number of new applications for assistance received by the department during the month for Monroe County was 57.

Shoemaker Becomes Heir As Top Jockey

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Shoemaker is heir apparent to the saddle throne occupied with considerable authority by the little guy from Cincinnati for more than 20 years.

It wasn't hard to figure, but when Eddie Arcaro retired officially Tuesday after 30 years as a jockey, thoughts of most horse people immediately shifted to Shoemaker, Arcaro, 46, and Shoemaker, 30, are the closest of friends. They play golf together, and are members of their own mutual admiration society.

Shoemaker immediately latched onto two of the big horses in racing, the Bohemia Stable's Kelso and George D. Widener's Jaipur. They both were Arcaro's private property until the greatest money rider of all time decided suddenly to retire and take a business opportunity. In fact, Arcaro gave Willie a big assist in gaining the mounts.

"I don't think there is anybody to take his place," Shoemaker said modestly in the Aqueduct jockey's room Wednesday. He had just won the first race with Greentree Stable's Cyrano, the stable Arcaro rode for 20 years ago.

"He was the king. There'll never be another one like him, I don't believe," Shoemaker said.

Shoemaker was oblivious of admiring glances from around the room, but smiled when Jockey Con Errico paused, and said softly:

"You fellows are talking to the big man now."

Thousands Pay Tribute To Kid Paret

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Several thousand persons filed past the body of former welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret, 25-year-old Cuban who died after a savage ring beating, at a Bronx funeral parlor Wednesday.

At the same time, seven New York state legislators, one a former fighter, were appointed to a special committee that will investigate boxing to decide if it should be banned in the state. Hearings will open in New York Friday.

New Moves
There were new moves to end the sport in Canada and Sweden, and Rep. Abraham J. Multer, D-N.Y., called for Congress to ban radio and television broadcasting of fights. Multer said this would make them unprofitable. He called the sport "public slaughter."

The Havana press reacted furiously to the death, accusing American "commercial interests" of causing it.

Paret died early Tuesday. He never regained consciousness after he was carried from the Madison Square Garden ring March 24, after he collapsed in the 12th round from a beating at the hands of Emile Griffith.

More than 20 policemen were on duty outside the funeral home to prevent any disorder. One man was arrested Tuesday night when the crowd got out of hand.

Virus Forces Delay In Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Heavyweight Johnny Morris of Pittsburgh has a virus condition and his 10-round bout Monday night with Chicago's Cliff Murkey was canceled, matchmaker Irv Schoenwald said.

Schoenwald said Murkey told him by telephone from Pittsburgh late Sunday night that he had been ill since Thursday and that he would fulfill his contract in about two weeks.

TROUT BY THOUSANDS—Monroe County fish stocking program which is nearing the 80 percent mark, continued yesterday as 2,500 brown and 2,500 rainbow were placed in Brodheads Creek below Stokes Mill Bridge. 12,000 Additional Trout Hike Fish Stocking Total

AN ADDITIONAL 12,000 fish will have been stocked in a number of Monroe County waters by Saturday, fish warden James Hazen has reported.

The stocking program has been carried out for past three days and more stockings will be made before Sunday.

Hazen said some 25,000 fish have been distributed in county streams and lakes this far and the 12,000 additional will complete about 80 percent of the stocking program.

Yesterday, 2,500 brown and 2,500 rainbow trout were stocked in Brodheads Creek south of Stokes Mill bridge. Some 500

Cleveland Girl Tops M. Bueno

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Gwyn Thomas of Cleveland upset Brazil's Maria Bueno with a brilliant baseline game Sunday and won the International Tennis Tournament title 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Thomas, ranked No. 6 in the United States, broke Miss Bueno's service in the second game of the deciding set as the Brazilian star became erratic and missed easy plays at the net.

Roy Emerson defeated Rod Laver 7-5, 7-5 and won the men's title in an all-Australian final.

Emerson and Laver teamed to win the men's doubles title, turning back Wolfgang Stuck of Germany and Mike Sangster of Britain in the final 6-3, 7-5.

Houston Stadium Ready By 1964

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The $15 million domed County Stadium, future home of the new Houston Colts baseball team, will not be ready for use before the spring of 1964—one year later than expected—County Judge Bill Elliott said Wednesday.

Elliott said the project is waiting word from the Defense Department as to whether the county will receive $2 million in federal aid.

Oslo Applies For '68 Games

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Oslo formally applied for the 1968 Winter Olympic Games Tuesday.

Three other cities have put in invitations for the same games. They are Calgary in Canada, Grenoble in France and Sion in Switzerland. The choice will be made next year.

Proposed Merger

By William A. Doyle

Q. I own some Pennsylvania Railroad stock, which cost me $43 a share. If the proposed merger between the Pennsy and the New York Central Railroad becomes a fact, my shares would be exchanged for shares of the new company. How many shares would I receive?

A. If I sell the stock of the merged company, at some later date, how would I figure my profit or loss? I have pretty well resigned myself to the unhappy fact that I will sell at a loss, sooner or later.

A. The plan to merge the Pennsy and the Central into a new big company, to be called Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co. (PANYC) is now before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The proposed merger calls for holders of each share of Pennsy stock to receive one share of PANYC stock and each share of Central stock to receive 1.3 shares of PANYC stock.

These terms have been worked out by the boards of directors of the two railroad companies. The directors, of course, are elected by the stockholders. The merger terms are the results of hard bargaining by both sides.

You don't say how many shares of Pennsy you now own. However, because of the proposed one-for-one exchange of PANYC shares for Pennsy shares, you would receive exactly the same number of PANYC shares as Pennsy shares you now own.

If you sell your PANYC shares, after the merger, your profit or loss would be the difference between your $43 per share cost price and the price you receive. Your "tax cost basis" on each share would not change. Your proof of that cost price would be the confirmation statement you received when you bought your Pennsy stock.

Stockholders of Central would have to "adjust" their tax cost basis per share. They would do this by dividing the tax cost basis on each of their Central shares by 1.3. Remember that they would receive 1.3 PANYC shares for each Central share.

Q. I purchased 100 shares of a new issue of stocks from a local broker. Then I found out that the offering of this stock had been registered for sale only to residents of one state — not this state. Didn't my broker commit a violation by selling it to me here, in a state where the stock was not supposed to be sold? Am I entitled to a refund of the purchase price?

A. Yes, your broker did commit a violation. And the Securities and Exchange Commission passes on the word that you are entitled to a refund of the purchase price. If you confront your broker with the knowledge that he committed a violation, it's a safe bet that he'll refund your purchase price — in a hurry. You're in a position to put him in a lot of trouble.

Furthermore, the SEC points out, even one sale of those shares of a new offering in a state in which the offering was not cleared for sale puts the entire offering into hot water. In theory, all buyers of that new offering could demand refunds.

your home state, where you make your legal residence.

Piggy-Back Car Is Demonstrated

NEW YORK (AP) — General American Transportation Corp. of Chicago demonstrated a piggy-back railroad car which it described as the first to combine all loading methods for trailer and container transportation.

The car, shown in the Illinois Central Railroad yards near Chicago, can be loaded from the end, side or from overhead. It handles both trailers and containers interchangeably.

Southern Wayne PTA

Cooperation Offered

NEWFOUNDLAND — Clayton Northup, Carroll Fetherman and Evelyn Haldeman were named to the Southern Wayne Joint School Parent Teacher Association committee to cooperate with the Rotary Club and other interested organizations in the foundation of a scholarship fund for area young people.

The Rotary Club has pledged its support to the project, which is to be carried out on a community-wide basis, and the PTA has followed Rotarians in agreeing to back the plan.

Mrs. Virginia Rohrbacker, vice president of the PTA, presided during the recent business session and made the committee appointment.

Witnesses To Be Shown Film Tonight

STEPHEN Bortlik, presiding minister of the East Stroudsburg congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses announced that he has arranged for a free showing of the hour color film "Divine Will International Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses." It will be shown tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, Milford Road, East Stroudsburg.

The public press, and other news channels gave world-wide attention to the assembly, acclaiming it as the world's largest Christian convention. For eight days it filled both Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds in New York City.

A quarter-million delegates from 123 lands were present at the climax of the event to hear Nathan H. Knorr, Watchtower Bible and Tract Society's president, speak on the subject, "God's Kingdom Rules — Is The World's End Near?"

Picture Bible Words

Opening sequences of the film picture the Bible words, "They shall beat their swords into plowshares," carved on the United Nations' headquarters building. It follows with living evidence that this prophecy can become a reality through knowledge of God's Kingdom. Packed with action throughout, scenes include: The mass baptism of more than 7,000 persons at one of New York's beaches; an audience of 194,000 unanimously adopting a vow to maintain peace and unity in their ranks; foreign-language sessions held in 20 languages; and two giant cafeterias feeding 1,000 meals a minute, operated by 12,000 volunteer workers.

Mr. Bortlik described the film as informative and educational. He stated that it will provide hope and inspiration to all people interested in godly living and world peace.

Astronauts Refuse Homes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The seven U.S. astronauts decided yesterday not to accept spanking new $24,000 gift homes in Houston, Tex., after all.

Their attorney, C. Leo DeRosey had decided it would be perfectly all right for the men to accept the homes, plus furnishings, although he said he had consulted only one of the seven about the offer.

Some questions were raised about the propriety of the gifts, however, and the seven spacemen announced through the National Aeronautics and Space Administration that they were declining.

Two Barger Masons Cited For 50 Years Of Service

WILLIAM Wolfe and George Armstrong were presented with 50-year membership pins at recent ceremonies of Barger Lodge 325 F&M, Stroudsburg.

Both men have been Masons for 50 years and have contributed many hours of service to the lodge. The pin is in recognition of 50 years membership and service to the lodge.

Following the meeting, a social hour was held in the dining room of the lodge. A cake, decorated with masonic emblems and the names of the two men, was cut and the more than 100 members attending were served a slice.

Hear Quartet

An added attraction to the program of the social hour was a quartet, "Timber-Tones" of the Stroudsburg Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. They sang several songs.

Plans Move Ahead For Horse Show

A MEETING held recently at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg, cleared additional details as to various individuals and committees to coordinate plans in presenting the 6th annual Horse Show of the Pocono Saddle Club, to be presented this year for benefit of the General Hospital building fund.

Assistance of other organizations in furthering this ambitious program will be welcomed and in fact will be sought stated Howard Linniger, club president. Mrs. Wellington reported that the Anna Logan Society has accepted responsibility for refreshments.

The list of events has been completed and includes attractive classes for all types and ages of riders. Of special interest are stake classes for parade horses, three gaited saddlers, walking horses and open jumpers.

As originally announced, Saturday July 14 is the date, starting at 10:00 a.m. and continuing under lights, with appropriate intermissions. Rain date, Sunday July 15. The affair will be held at East Stroudsburg High's Memorial Stadium.

Post entries will be accepted for all classes. All exhibitors are advised to contact Charles Henry, Gilbert, show chairman, for details and advance information.

Enrollment Problem In Bangor

BANGOR — The Bangor Borough School Board resolved at its meeting Tuesday night that it is faced with growing pains. The growth in the elementary enrollment and the increase of the junior high school pupils total brought this matter to light. The board planned to secure the assistance of a consultant to plan a ten year program. It was also reported by Kenneth Ace that repairs to the administration building would be about $12,000 to $15,000 and also reported that a parents' group will protest the moving of Bangor pupils in the fifth and sixth grade at Columbus School to the Lincoln School.

It was decided that no pupil changes would therefore be made until the school population study is completed. Plans were also made to withhold the payment of sewer assessments on school property until Solicitor Edmund Turzo investigates the school's responsibility in this matter.

Meet Monday

Directors will meet Monday to open bids on three new buses and also to hear offers of bus contractors to transport Bangor pupils. It was agreed to accept the payments of East Bangor to the jointure on a five year plan.

Mrs. Charlotte Hough, treasurer reported a balance of $19,200.60 and W. John Heard, finance chairman announced bills for payment amounting to $35,625.47.

Bangor Council Gets Bids

BANGOR — Two bids were received by the members of the Bangor Borough Council at a recent meeting show marked improvements for two areas of the community, council stated. Bids were received on a multi-purpose backhoe and front end loader from three bidders. Case type was bid by the Wheel and Crawler Equipment Co. of Fogelsville at $10,990; and International was bid by the Service Supply Co. of Phila. at $11,845.04; and the bid on the Allis Chalmers was made by B. and J. Sales Inc. of Great Meadows, N.J. at $11,000.

Council deferred action on these bids until a special meeting on April 16. The members of the related committees of council were asked to investigate the bids and the equipment and report its findings at the adjourned meeting.

In action the other bid which was for the necessary repairs to the Bangor Park Swimming Pool, council awarded the bid to Joseph V. McCullen, Inc. of Maritan, N.J. at $12,955. The bid of the Western Water Proofing Company at $8490 was refused because it did not include one of the phases requested in the request for bids. The other bidder was from the National Gurnett Co. of Boston, Mass at $18,708.00.

By resolution council recognized the 83rd birthday anniversary of Borough Secretary William J. Sleeman and also congratulated him for his more than 58 years as borough secretary. Joseph Galati, a resident of the fourth ward appeared before council relative to a catch basin near his property that would interfere with his sewer connections. Council agreed to investigate and take the necessary steps to correct the matter. John Cascioli was instructed by council to investigate the reasons and steps necessary to ordain an area of North Ninth Street.

It was announced by Walter Warrick, president of council that recently elected officials of the Bangor Area Joint Junior and Senior High Schools would attend the May meeting of the council in celebration of government day in the schools. May Quintus LaBar was high in his praise of the newly elected Bangor Area Senior High School and urged all members of council to avail themselves of the opportunity to visit the school.

Atty. J. Lawrence Davis, solicitor was authorized by council to make a settlement with the damage claim for the Halliday property on newly constructed Route 119 and the Bangor Gas Company. It was noted by council had completed its repair of North Third and Fourth Streets, Cascioli reported to council that the cost to construct a portion of South Sixth Street would be about $6,000.

It was reported that 314 local residents had applied for connection permits for the sewer and that 125 have been connected to date. Residents of Bracad Court were granted permission to install sewer lines in that street as per their request and at their own expense. The lines will become the property of the borough and the sewer authority will request the bids for the construction. Ray Traves, assistant secretary who is handling much of the business related to the sewers was granted an hourly compensation rate in addition to the regular fee to cover the heavy period of requests now being received.

Council authorized that bids be asked for the installation of natural gas heating and hot water facility in the field house and additional locker areas being constructed at the Bangor Park Stadium, in addition the building and grounds committee was authorized to seek bids for installing sewer lines in the following borough buildings, Library, Town Hall, Bee Hive, Second Ward and Liberty.

Upon the recommendation of the safety committee council agreed to establish five 30 minute parking meters in spots in the business district to assist short term parkers in finding nearby meters that will more readily be available. This will be only on a trial basis.

Instructed To Borrow
Upon the recommendation of the finance committee council instructed the borough secretary to borrow up to $20,000 from the First National Bank in Bangor on tax anticipation to meet current expenses.

Despite the reading of a letter addressed to all council members on the objections of the naming Wise Mews, council moved to ordain this street as it has been planned in addition to Murray Street. The secretary was also instructed to advertise for stone and oil for use on the borough streets.

The following financial report was made: general funds, $7,40.79; police pension fund, $20,379.04. State highway fund $6,893.92 and Mayor LaBar reported the following for the month of March. Total receipts $1056.07 divided as follows: licenses $135; fines, $117; building and digging permits, $5.50 and parking meters, $738.57.

Dear Abby

Possessed!

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old and am engaged to a very jealous boy. He insists on seeing me every night. When I come home from work I have my washing and ironing to do, and I like to go to a movie with a girl friend once in a while. He allows me to have one night away from him every two weeks. And then he gives me the third degree about what I did and who I saw. I think I am entitled to one evening a week away from him. He says because we are engaged he is entitled to all my time. Is he right?

OWNED TIRE OF ARGUING
DEAR OWNED: If this is a preview of how you two are going to get along after marriage, I suggest a LONG courtship. He is far too possessive, and you are justifiably resentful. A jealous fiancé makes a miserable husband.

DEAR ABBY: Can you settle an argument that has been going on for 15 years? Should an anniversary be celebrated when one mate is dead? Or should you still go on sending gifts and cards to the one who is living? I say, what difference does it make? If one person is still living and able to say, "Today is my anniversary," then that person still has an anniversary. My wife says it takes two to celebrate an anniversary and it is not proper to celebrate it alone. Sign me,

35. We were more than just friends, if you know what I mean. We had our good times, but I went through more misery than I care to talk about. He promised marriage, but it was only conversation. He was a liar and a cheat but when a woman loves a man she'll overlook a lot. I finally made the break and, believe me, my love for him is dead. He owes me $300. In order to get it I will have to see him again. He didn't give me a "note" or anything so I'm out of luck there. I don't want to start up with him again, but how else can I get my money?

DEAR LEARNED: You learned a lesson, and it cost you $300. Forget the debt—and the debtor. I think you got off cheap.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SICK AT HEART: Forgive him. You never know when you might need the same kind of understanding.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Early Tomatoes

By George Abraham

NOW'S the time to plan for the earliest tomatoes in your neighborhood. The first point to keep in mind that it takes early bearing varieties to bear early fruit. So start with early varieties. If you live in a region where frosts come early in the fall, then select an early maturing type. One early tomato which is causing a lot of stir is Fireball, especially recommended in short season areas.

Commercial growers and those who run market stands take to Fireball fruit isn't as large as that of most varieties, but the clusters are large and ripen well ahead of others. It's such an early bearer seed can be sown directly in the garden.

There's a trick to getting heavy early yields from Fireball, and one of them is to prevent any check in growth. Water the plants well and do not allow the seedlings to be checked in growth at any time.

Another trick used to beat your neighbor for early tomatoes is to resort to potted plants. These have been started indoors and grown in individual pots, made usually of peat, manure (compressed), veneer or paper. Usually when you buy them from a florist they are in bud or blossom, sometimes with small fruit. Don't worry if the tomatoes are tall.

Just set them in the ground deeper. Give them a good send-off with a "booster" solution (such as 23-21-17), which can be poured on the plant or in the roots. Dry fertilizers are apt to burn unless you keep it away from the young plant.

Another way to have earlier fruit is to spray with a "blossom-set" hormone, now prepared commercially in aerosol cans. Spray the flower clusters when open or partly open, with repeated sprayings weekly to set flowers opening later. This will give you tomatoes up to 3 weeks ahead of normal time. More about tomatoes later.

LAWN GRASSES: Confused about what makes a good lawn? I could hold the grasses down to two: Kentucky Bluegrass and the red fescues. When the word fescue is mentioned it's bound to cause confusion, but I'll try to straighten it out. Red fescue species are for lawns, and the seed you buy may have variety names such as Chewings, Illahee, Pennlawn and Rainier.

Now, there's a "hay" fescue farmers use and these are called, of all names, Kentucky 31, or Alta. The person who named a fescue grass "Kentucky" ought to have his head examined because it's too close to Kentucky Bluegrass. It confuses many a gardener.

If your lawn is full of broad-leaved weeds such as dandelions, thistles, buckhorn plants, ground ivy, knotweed, purslane, then use a selective weedkiller containing 2, 4-D and 2,4,5-T, available in any garden store. These will not harm narrow-leaved grasses such as Kentucky Bluegrass and fescue.

RASPBERRIES: The most popular raspberry is the black with red seeds, and purple third.

The purple is a hybrid between the red and black and is gaining in popularity due to its productivity, fine quality.

In general, the purple is the largest fruited, and the most productive of the group. The red is least productive. Two good reds are Taylor and Latham. Sodus and Purple Autumn are good purples to grow. Good blackberries are Bristol and Cumberland. For us, Bristol outyields them all, the fruit being glossy, large and of excellent quality.

Everbearing raspberries produce a crop during the normal season on one-year old canes, and a second, partial crop on current season's growth during late summer or early fall. The fall crop is usually ended by frost, unless you live in an area where frosts come late. Next week: More about bramble fruits.

HARVEST GIANT MUMS: These are the "football" mums of the gardens, not the tender greenhouse varieties. Harvest Giants were developed by crossing the large American chrysanthemum with the early English garden mum. Blossoms are large, plants are hardy, and bloom early enough for outdoor planting in the north. Golden Arrow, Full Moon, Indian Summer, Autumn Leaves and Touchdown are good varieties for the home gardener to start with.

GRASS SEED: If you're going to patch up bare spots in a lawn, or put in a lawn, use a good mixture of Kentucky bluegrass and fescue. It's a bargain when you figure the cost — 20,000 seeds for a penny. The seed is cleaner, freer of weed seed and higher in germination than seed you bought in granddad's day.

A good lawn will last as long as your house, so start out with good seed and you'll never regret it. Bargain grass seeds contain high amounts of rough, temporary grasses. A small amount of this in a mixture does no harm, but make sure Kentucky bluegrass is the backbone of your grass seed mixture.

doing so you rob a plant of its reserve.

The strong healthy vigorous wood contains reserve food which nourishes the early growth of the newly developing shoots which have to grow 8 to 10 inches before the new leaves start to manufacture enough food to sustain the growth of their parent shoot. In other words, we don't prune as heavily as we used to.

Prune your roses back to live tissue, leaving the healthy wood to produce flowers. Any wood that has been blackened by winter can be cut back to the nearest live bud, and at the same time, trim out any weak spindly growth.

What's the best rose spray to use? Most of them are good if you hit the pests before they get started. Here's a home-made spray I've used: Ferbam or Captain, 3 level tablespoons; wettable sulfur, 2 level tbs; DDT, 50 per cent wet table powder (or Melathion), 3 level tablespoons. These are mixed with a gallon of water, to which has been added a level teaspoon of a detergent.

Another good formula consists of 1 tablespoon of Dithane (or tbs. of Parzate); ¼ tablespoons of Karathane, 2 tbs. of 50 per cent DDT (or 3 tbs. of 50 per cent methoxychlor) and 2 tbs. of 25 per cent Malathion, all to a gallon of water.

Dust or spray once a week! You can buy these ingredients all mixed, or you can buy them separately and mix them yourself.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: E. T. of Delaware Water Gap: "My neighbor raised some muskmelons last year and they were excellent. Please tell us how we can grow them in our garden."

High quality muskmelons can be grown in the home garden. Seed can be sown directly in the soil, 3 or 4 seeds to a hill, then cover with "hotcaps" to hasten growth. Or you can start them indoors in peat pots, about a month before the average date of the last killing frost.

Allow only 2 or 3 plants to grow in each pot, and after danger of frost is over, set the pots and all in the garden. Each pot makes one hill, and 8 to 10 hills is enough for the average family. Full sun and a rich, sandy soil is best for muskmelons.

A good variety to try is Iroquois, unexcelled for home use, roadside stands or market. It's also resistant to fusarium wilt. Delicious 51 is an early, fusarium-resistant melon, ripening a week ahead of Iroquois, and I think the flesh is even finer.

Communist Announce Bonus Plan

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda, the voice of the Communist party, came out Wednesday for individual bonus payments and incentives to workers to speed production.

It means scrapping the system of incentive payments to work brigades and other groups. Bonuses for the individual worker have not been general.

Incentive payments to groups have been made to encourage team spirit and collective morale. The Pravda article, written by A. Volkov, said current leveling of payments in many places was bad.

The article, in effect a directive to get more production through individual incentives, followed demands by Premier Khrushchev that more pay be offered for more work, especially on farms where harvests have been lagging for three years.

As a matter of fact many factories already have been paying individual and group bonuses for piece work, but these resulted in draining off most skilled labor from farms to cities.

Volkov condemned the magazine Economic Gazette for publishing an article encouraging payment on a collective basis instead of individually.

The magazine writer said payment for individual productivity cultivates individuality and weakens the strength of the collective. The same views were expressed in a book recently and in an article by the popular big circulation magazine Light.

Oddly, Light is put out by the managers and publishers of Pravda. Pravda said such articles introduce harmful confusion in workers' ranks.

9 'Splinters' File Petitions

HARRISBURG (AP)—Nine persons representing independent or so-called "splinter" parties met the deadline for getting their names on the May 15 primary election ballot.

The State Elections Bureau said yesterday the only candidates of the splinter group for statewide office represent the Socialist-Labor Party. They are:

For U.S. Senate, Aria A. Albaugh, Pittsburgh, a photo-engraver; for governor, George S. Taylor, Philadelphia, an electronics engineer; for lieutenant-governor, Benson Perry, Philadelphia, a computer programmer; and for secretary of internal affairs, Herman A. Johnson, Monroeville, a chemist.

Representatives of these other parties also filed: Constitutional assembly party—William Kovalenko, Alliquippa, for the 2nd Legislative District of Beaver County.

American Party—Anthony Dielski, Scranton, for the 2nd Legislative District of Lackawanna County; Peter Seta, Taylor, for the 5th Legislative District of Lackawanna County.

Tacony-Mafair Party — Ralph C. Morrone, Philadelphia, for the 24th Legislative District of Philadelphia.

Independent—Michael A. Orlando, New Castle, for the 1st Legislative District of Lawrence County.

Focus On Health

Art Choices Of Sick People Strictly Quiet

Art choices of sick people, the vulnerable months in the womb, and the decreasing death rates from appendicitis are subjects for Focus on Health.

The Bedside Critic

So you're sick in bed, and they show you 30 paintings and ask you which you'd like to hang in your hospital room.

A jury of hospitalized patients at the University of Michigan was asked just that. Members turned thumbs down on most of the candidates from the modern art field, and chose instead quiet, sentimental paintings of landscapes, seascapes and wildlife.

The first three months in the womb—the time of rapid development from a few cells to an embryo — are among the most critical for the unborn. Researchers know that deformities often occur when the mother is struck by a virus disease like measles during this period.

Now comes word that the early stages of pregnancy are the time that unborn animals are most susceptible to death or damage from X rays and other ionizing radiation as well.

So far it has not been proven that radiation damages human embryos. Dr. Robert Rugh of Columbia University reported to the American Radiology Society. But, he warned, radiation can harm, even kill, embryos rats—and these findings indicate that care should be taken in using X rays on newly pregnant women.

Crisis Over, Officials Convinced

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

American officials are convinced the crisis between the Netherlands and Indonesia over West New Guinea is about over, but you can get just about as many opinions as there are observers as to the future of the new nation.

The Dutch presence there has become unprofitable. Its cession to Indonesia now seems to be a matter of letting the Dutch government out gracefully—something which President Sukarno is not eager to do, but probably will do to avoid the onus of violence.

There are indications that he does not wish to create an unstable situation at home which might put him in the same relation to his Communist constituents as Fidel Castro of Cuba.

Sukarno is still the boss in Indonesia—with the aid of an army to which he gives sufficient power to check any too-forward Communist activities.

For their part, the Indonesian Communists are playing a game which has been played before, elsewhere, as in France and Italy and some other European countries immediately after World War II.

In Asia the pattern has been for the establishment of cadres, and recruiting for guerrilla action as preliminary to control of villages and eventual establishment of footholds in governments.

In Indonesia there has been greater emphasis on a more subtle phase of Communist tactics. That is the tactic of creating production troubles in industry and disruption of commerce, forcing governments to go adventuring into various forms of nationalization, spreading Socialist practices which the Reds see as the last step before arrival at universal communism.

The question is whether Sukarno will emerge from the Dutch dispute with enhanced support by the army—as he should—and whether he believes American economic aid will be offered under a true application of the new policy of full recognition for neutralism.

appendicitis, thanks to antibiotics to control infections, and better surgery and diagnosis. The death rate has fallen to one per 100,000 Americans.

But it doesn't mean that fewer people are getting appendicitis. In one year alone, 417,000 Americans fell ill to the disease. Ninety per cent underwent operations. In all, these appendicitis victims spent 2,708,000 days in hospitals, say statisticians from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.
